

Stock Market Crash!

by Callibee

on June 09, 2011, 08:23:11 PM

As I awakened this on this Memorial Day morning (5-30-11) a fresh wind of the ruach blew a warning to those who have "ears to hear" and a heart cleansed with repentance. I humbly submit this word for your prayerful discernment and as a warning of things to come. Pray, pray, pray! Many lives are hanging in the balance as the enemy of our souls seeks to kill, steal, and destroy all not fully submitted to Him!

For the Spirit of the Lord says to those who have "ears to hear," Tell My people that more devastation is coming unless there is IMMEDIATE prayer and repentance across the nation! The stock market will crash as a sign that this devastation will take place. I see the priest and prophets who do not weep between the porch and the altar but who have gathered up followers to pacify their own flesh. They are a foul stench to My nostrils! I will expose your ways!" says the Spirit of the Lord. "Your necks have become stiff and your hearts are hardened but when I strike you will know it is I," says the Spirit of the Lord! "You were assigned to warn the people. You were called to prepare their hearts. You were commissioned to speak to national leaders and government officials and yet, you did not, therefore, I will lay My axe to your roots and you shall be no more!" says the Spirit of the Lord.

To those who refuse to acknowledge My hand. Do you not see that I have lifted My presence from you and marked you for destruction? Do you not listen to the sound of My voice as I call to you through the storms? No, you do not for there is little repentance and even less humility across the land, therefore, I have allowed homes and businesses and jobs to be removed but still there is no repentance, therefore, even greater devastation will come to America first and then outward to the nations until the back of pride is broken and the need to rebuild is removed. I will humble the proud. I will take away what you desire most. I will allow your stock market to crash and for your enemy to eat from the produce of your land. I will turn My face from those who do not know Me," says the Spirit of the Lord. "Run, run to My Shelter!" says the Spirit of the Lord, "For I have prepared a place of safety for those who will be required to walk by faith in this season! Learn how to hide in Me. Learn My voice. Learn My ways!" says the Spirit of the Lord, "For I AM coming quickly to those who know Me not and to those who know Me humble yourselves and stay hidden in Me for there I will be your fortress, your place of protection and your stability in the midst of great shaking!"

www.thewritersinkhorn.com (<http://www.thewritersinkhorn.com>)